ABOUT

I am a Front-End Developer with entrepreneurial spirit, self-motivation, and strong leadership abilities. I love nothing more than working on complex problems, and I am always working towards my next big goal. I have a passion for education, both in my own continued learning and in helping others.

WORK EXPERIENCE

Climax Media (December 2019 - Present)

Front-End Developer

At Climax we work in Agile Sprints on client projects, building React components and integrating them into functional pages which are built to display content entered in the Sitecore CMS using Sitecore JSS.

I contribute to Agile Ceremonies, and User Stories, tasks, and workflow management is largely self-directed within each pod.

Juno College of Technology (July 2019 - Present)

Instructor/Developer

First hired on a three month contract immediately following the Web Development Immersive Program, I quickly stepped into an Instructor/Developer role as a Lead Instructor and Mentor for Accelerated HTML/CSS and JavaScript courses. In addition to teaching I was responsible for maintaining and updating course material and building exercises.

I continue to work as a contract Instructor leading my own part-time Web Development and JavaScript courses evenings and weekends.

Grey Canada (October 2019 - March 2020)

Front-End Developer

At Grey I worked as the sole developer on a variety of client projects including landing pages and animated banner ads. As the only developer my time was largely self-driven, and I was responsible for seeing through each project from conception to completion.

Once my position at Climax Media began, I moved into a freelance role at Grey, doing much of the same work on an as needed basis.

Bloomer's Bakery & Restaurant (Feb 2014 - January 2019)

Co-founder & Owner

In my time at Bloomer's my partner and I grew from just the two of us in a little bakery, to a full service restaurant and a team of 25 staff, more than tripling our revenue within the first three years of opening. I was responsible for everything that comes with small business ownership including all staff management, budgeting, product development, and business to business growth. We managed a long list of vendors and wholesale clients while maintaining a first name basis with many of the business' regular customers. We sold the business to new ownership in December 2018.

VOLUNTEER EXPERIENCE

Juno College (June 2019 - Present)

I have volunteered as a mentor for Web Development and JavaScript 101 Workshops, for open office hours geared towards students and graduates looking for help with their learning or for specific projects, and as a one-on-one mentor for bootcamp students who need a little extra help.

Canada Learning Code (July 2019)

I volunteered providing support and for female-identified, trans, and nonbinary youth over a two day Hackathon and assisted them in solving a real world problems through building their first website.
